

10x12 Modern Patio Quantity Sheet

Your exact material counts for a barefoot-friendly backyard.

Grab the exact paver counts, gravel yards, and plant spacing needed to build this modern outdoor space. Order your landscape materials with total confidence to avoid frustrating extra trips.

● Material Quantities

20 slabs

Large-format square concrete pavers

30 sq ft

Sod for 4-in grass joints

0.5 cu yd

Angular 3/8 gravel for beds

22 lin ft

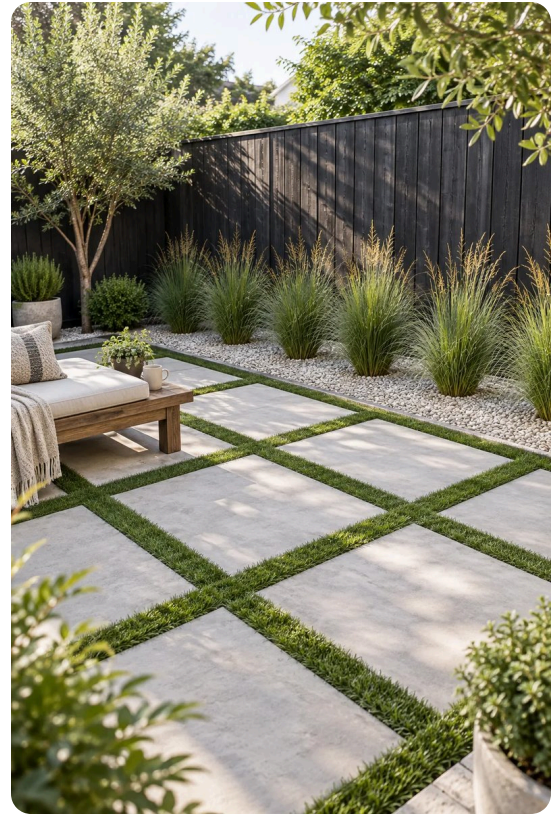

Steel edge, lawn-flush

1 gal

Black stain, not paint per 10ft

1 plug

One grass per 24-in grid

Thriving Grass Joints

Never cut joints narrow; roots need space for water. Blend topsoil with coarse sand, and wait until roots establish before heavy soaking to prevent rot.

● Building the Foundation

- 1 Grade for drainage Ensure the footprint slopes away from your home at a drop of one inch every four feet.
- 2 Level the sand Screed a 1-inch layer of concrete sand over a compacted gravel base for a flat starting surface.
- 3 Prep the beds Excavate planting zones to a depth of 3 inches and lay a heavy-duty woven weed barrier.
- 4 Prep the fence Pressure wash on low and let dry completely for 48 hours to open the wood pores.

● Adapt to Your Climate

Find your row: Your local environment

Your local environment	Your pick	Why
Drought-tolerant desert	Warm limestone & agave	Thrives with minimal watering
Shady Pacific Northwest	Dark basalt & soft moss	Loves low sunlight
Resort-style tropical	White pavers & monstera	Vibrant, high-contrast foliage
Low-maintenance Zen	Black micro-gravel & tree	Ultra-minimalist meditation space
Urban industrial	Corten steel & basalt chips	Rugged architectural courtyard

● Check Before You Build

- Verify edging sits flush with soil for a razor-straight visual line.
- Map your strict grass grid beforehand to ensure a structured, architectural look.
- Ensure your furniture is low enough to keep planting views open.
- Check that crushed gravel edges bind firmly so they won't scatter.
- Confirm penetrating fence stain soaks in rather than peeling like paint.

● Measurements & Shopping Notes

Enjoy your barefoot Saturdays in a stunning, modern backyard built exactly to spec!